A Conference Honoring Margaret Lock

New Directions in Social Studies of Medicine, Science, and Ethics

March 13-14, 2014

Thursday
March 13, 2014
9:00 - 4:00 pm
202 Jones Hall

Friday
March 14, 2014
9:00 - 4:00 pm
300 Wallace Hall

Speakers
Amy Borovoy, Princeton University
Tsipy Ivry, University of Haifa
Junko Kitanaka, Keio University
Julie Livingston, Rutgers University
Susan Long, John Carroll University
Melissa Melby, University of Delaware
Mitsuho Ikeda, Osaka University
Naoko Miyaji, Hitotsubashi University
Karen Nakamura, Yale University
Vinh-Kim Nguyen, University of Montreal
Adriana Petryna, University of Pennsylvania
Glenda Roberts, Waseda University
Azumi Tsuge, Meiji Gakuin University
Everett Zhang, Princeton University

Public lecture by Margaret Lock,
Marjorie Bronfman Professor Emerita, McGill University

The Alzheimer Enigma Amidst Global Aging
Thursday, March 13 • 300 Wallace Hall • 4:30 pm

Sponsored by the East Asian Studies Program Orita-McCosh Lectureship,
Princeton Institute of International and Regional Studies (PIIRS), and the University Center for Human Values